Accelerator Blamed For Wednesday Eve Crash

George Green, Circleville policeman, and members of the family of Roy Huffer, 424 N. Pickaway street, were painfully although not seriously hurt Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in a three car collision at Main street and the Lancaster pike. The accident happened when the patrolman lost control of an automobile belonging to an alleged intoxicated driver. The motorist, Ralph Roberts, 42, of Amanda, was being taken to police headquarters in the cruiser by Patrolman Carl Radcliff. Green was following in the Amanda man's car.

Roberts paid $125.40 to Mayor
W. B. Cady Thursday for driving intoxicated and operating a car with insufficient brakes. He was fined $100 and costs on the first charge and $5 and costs on the second.

cut lips, head bruises and a bruised right knee. He was taken riding in the back seat of the automobile. Their parents and smaller brother were in the front.

The third car involved was driv-

It was double parked beside the Huffer car waiting for the traffic light to give them a "go ahead" signal. The Huffer automobile was forced against the Hetzler vehicle when it was struck by the Roberts car.

Patrolmen Green and Radcliff received a call that a motorist who was apparently intoxicated was menacing traffic on Route 23.
He was reported to have been driving into Circleville from the south. The patrolmen went south

Il Duce Calls Thousands In Gigantic Mobilization

ROME, March 2—Acting swiftly on his newly proclaimed maxim for the year 1939, "Ever More Intense Military Preparation," Premier Benito Mussolini today moved to increase Italy's mobilized man power by calling several hundred thousand men to the colors.

Determined to back up the nation's ambitions, Il Duce unexpectedly summoned for military duty two classes of recruits who had been scheduled to report later in the Spring, and recalled for re-examination members of three other classes who had previously failed their physical examinations.

Five classes—those of 1915 to 1919 inclusive—were affected by the order which was interpreted as indicating Mussolini's intention to prepare for the anticipated joint demand with Germany for redistribution of colonies.

Ordered to report immediately were the members of the class of 1918, and of the first quarter of the 1919 class who would normally have come under arms a month from now.

In addition, between 100,000 and 200,000 men previously found unfit will be re-examined. They are members of the classes of 1915, 1916 and 1917. Among those to be reconsidered are recruits who were rejected because of shortness of stature.

Government spokesmen advanced no reason for the recall of previously rejected men or for the advance in the date of call of the two later classes beyond to assert that "these are normal measures." In diplomatic circles, the mobilization move was considered more a preparatory step than an indication of any emergency.

C. & O. FOREMAN INJURES HAND IN RAIL ACCIDENT

W. R. Craycraft, 952 S. Pick-away street, section foreman on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, suffered injuries to his right hand
Wednesday afternoon when the member was caught in a drawbar
when he was coupling a car.

Mr. Craycraft was treated at Berger hospital by Dr. Howard Jones. He was discharged after treatment. The second finger on his hand was crushed and the end of the third finger was cut off.

Police Chief William McCrady noticed a car speeding on Court street about 5 p. m. and gave chase to investigate. When he learned the injured man was in the car he cleared the way for the car to make a speedy trip to the hospital.

The officer's attention was drawn to the car when he noticed a chain dragging behind it.
Friends of Mr. Craycraft had failed to remove the chain before starting their trip to the hospital.

SHERWOOD PUTS AMRINE ON JOB AT STATE JAIL

Charges To Be Filed After
30-Day Period, Says
Cabinet Member

COMMENT IS REFUSED

Careful Study Of Inquiry Report Determines Decision

COLUMBUS, March 2—Warden
James C. Woodard of Ohio penitentiary was suspended today by Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood for disciplinary purposes.
Sherwood refused to comment on that and said he did not know whether a permanent order for removal would be filed when the thirty days suspension expires.

W. F. Amrine, superintendent of corrections, was named acting warden.

Sherwood stated that the action was taken only after careful study of the report of Superintendent Amrine relative to conditions in the penitentiary and after verification of reports that had been made to him directly.

Decision Difficult

"This decision was especially difficult to arrive at," said Sherwood, "because of the personal friendship which has existed between the warden and myself for many years. But after considered weighing of the situation it is impossible to correct some of the unwarranted conditions at the Ohio penitentiary under the administration of Warden Woodard.
The director revealed that he had several conferences with the warden since January 10, and had urged him to correct some of the conditions which were revealed to him. Sherwood said he was not satisfied with the action taken by Woodard as a result of the conferences.

Sherwood said that he was glad to state that there was no evidence of graft or dishonesty on the part of the warden and that

BODIES OF TWO MURDERED MEN FOUND IN AUTO

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 2—The bullet-riddled bodies of two men, apparently victims of a "feud slaying," today were found slumping in an automobile parked on a lonely road near Kulpmont, about five miles from Shamokin.

They were identified by state motor police as Fred Pensyl, 23, of Reading, and Joseph Mansfield, 30, of Shamokin. Pensyl police said,
formerly lived in Shamokin.

Pensyl's wife and mother-in-law,
Mrs. Stella Nolan, of Shamokin, identified the bodies at a Shamokin garage where the mud-spattered coupe in which the men were found was taken.

Mansfield's body was jammed into the closed rumble seat of the car and garagemen had to use acetylene torches to remove it. He was shot above the left eye and in the shoulder. Pensyl had a bullet hole in his forehead, close to the temple.

HOUSE FIRE KILLS TWO; FATHER, GIRL, 5, INJURED

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March
2.—Two tiny children were burned to death and their father and 4-year-old sister seriously injured today when the bungalow-type home in which they lived was burned to the ground.

The dead were Dolores Jean Kmetz, age 6, and her younger brother, Paul Edward Kmetz, Jr., age 3.

In a hospital were Paul E.
Kmetz, Sr., 32, and the child he saved from a fiery death, Rita Marie, age 4.

BEATING, BRANDING OF BABY ADMITTED

LEWISTOWN, Pa., March 2—A tale of intense, bitter cruelty—of the severe beating of a two year old child and the branding of the tot with a stove-lid lifter—was confessed today by 22 year old Paul William Barrick, Marysville, near Harrisburg, according to state motor police.

Barrick was being held here pending the outcome of the girl's injuries. Police said Barrick confessed to beating the baby "at least 50 times" in recent months because he was "jealous" of her unwed mother.

Little Miriam Wolf, victim of the brutal assault, is in a critical condition in a Sunbury hospital, where authorities say she has been unconscious more than 72 hours.
The left side of her face, her hands and feet were paralyzed; deep bruises were found on her face, neck and jaw, and numerous lacerations scarred her soft features.

The child's mother, Helen Wolf, about 24, a domestic in a rural Juniata county home, was being held as a material witness.

Corporal Richard Gray, of the Pennsylvania motor police, said
Barrick admitted "branding"
Miriam with a stove-lid lifter several weeks ago. On other occasions, Barrick told Gray, he "kicked,
beat and choked her."

Barrick's arrest followed investigation by state police of a hospital physician's report on the baby's injuries. He was arrested at the home of a brother-in-law,
where the child's mother was employed and where Barrick has been living for the last several months.

The child, according to motor police, was taken to the hospital last Monday. Barrick, on his arrest, police said, declared the child had fallen against a washing machine.

Questioned by police, however, Barrick admitted hurling the child against a stove, Gray asserted.

TWO NAZI SPIES ON OCEAN AFTER MEXICANS ACT

MEXICO CITY, March 2.—Two alleged Nazi spies, expelled from Mexico by President Lazaro Cardenas, were on the high seas today
after being placed aboard the liner at Veracruz.

The suspects, Baron Hans Heinrich Von Holleuffer and Paul Cardinsky, were deported under article 33 of the Mexican constitution of 1917.

Cardenas acted swiftly after being informed the Baron and Cardinsky were plotting to start trouble among 5,000 Germans in the southern state of Chiapas.

General Antonio Rios Zertuche,
commander of the military zone
there, came to the capital and told Cardenas that Baron Von Holleuf-fer had been importing arms and ammunition from Guatemala. The baron also was accused of directing radio transmission of Mexican military secrets to Berlin.

An official announcement said
the president considered it "inconvenient" for the two suspects to remain in Mexico.

CHANGE ARTISTS ESCAPE WITH $6 OF STOUT'S CASH

Walter Stout, N. Court street service station operator, has been in the gasoline business in Circleville for 14 years and has learned many of the tricks of the trade,
but he was not quite fast enough
Wednesday evening for a short change artist who "fleeced" him out of $6.

A 1937 Chevrolet bearing North Carolina tags was driven into the station for a purchase of three gallons of gasoline. The driver handed Stout a $10 bill. After some exchanging of money that followed, Stout discovered that he was $6 short, but the car was gone before he found the error.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Adkins answered a call to the station and drove as far north as the Franklin county line, but was unable to find the car.

Stout said that the car contained two young men and a girl, the latter dressed in a fur coat.

NEXT PONTIFF CHOOSES NAME OF LATE PIUS

Three Ballots Necessary
To Determine Sacred
Conclave's Wishes

PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED

Native Of Italy Is First
Papal Secretary Of State
To Be Honored

VATICAN CITY, March 2—The sacred College of Cardinals meeting in secret conclave today chose Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, of Italy, as successor to Pope Pius XI as supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic church.

The election, one of the speediest in the history of the church,
raised to the pontificate the brilliant and gifted diplomat who served as papal secretary of state
under Pope Pius XI.

The new pontiff, in tribute to his beloved predecessor, chose the title of Pope Pius XII. Cardinal Pacelli was born in Italy in 1876 and was created a cardinal in 1929
by Pope Pius XI.

Served as Chamberlain

At the death of Pope Pius, he was named Camerlango, or chamberlain of the Holy Roman church, and as such carried on the duties of the pontiff during the period
"sede vacante" since Pius' passing.

The choice of Cardinal Pacelli broke a long standing tradition that secretaries of state are not to be chosen as pontiff.

It carried on tradition, however,
in that his selection meant another Italian occupant of the papal throne.

Cardinal Pacelli was chosen on the third ballot cast on the first day of voting.

His choice was made known to countless thousands gathered in the huge square at St. Peter's church by a thin white column of smoke arising from the roof above the "sistine," the chapel where the conclave was assembled.

DIES IN ACTION AGAINST NAZIS, FASCIST GROUPS

WASHINGTON, March 2 —
Chairman Martin Dies of the special house committee investigating un-American activities, today announced that the committee has detailed a special squad of staff investigators to probe the activities of the German-American bund, the Italian Fascist, the Silver Shirts and similar organizations.

The investigators are operating under the direction of Rhea Whitley, chief attorney for the committee and a former G-man.

Branding recent Bund and Communist rallies at Madison Square Garden in New York City as "disgraceful demonstrations," Dies in a statement, declared that the nation could rest assured that both meetings are "being fully and completely investigated."

"The German American Bund,
the Italian Fascist, the Silver Shirts, and every other Nazi and Fascist organization are being thoroughly and completely and fearlessly investigated by a special squad of trained and experienced investigators selected by the full committee, and working under the direction of an able attorney who was for ten years connected with the Federal Bureau of Investigation," Dies said.

He was called for cross examina-the plaintiff before noon. They Mansfield's body was jammed into the closed rumble seat of the car and garagemen had to use acetylene torches to remove it. He was shot above the left eye and in the shoulder. Pensyl had a bullet hole in his forehead, close to the temple.

HOUSE FIRE KILLS TWO; FATHER, GIRL, 5, INJURED

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 2—Two tiny children were burned to death and their father and 4-year-old sister seriously injured today when the bungalow-type home in which they lived was burned to the ground.

The dead were Dolores Jean Kmetz, age 6, and her younger brother, Paul Edward Kmetz, Jr., age 3.

In a hospital were Paul E. Kmetz, Sr., 32, and the child he saved from a fiery death, Rita Marie, age 4.

BEATING, BRANDING OF BABY ADMITTED

LEWISTOWN, Pa., March 2—A tale of intense, bitter cruelty—of the severe beating of a two year old child and the branding of the tot with a stove-lid lifter—was confessed today by 22 year old Paul William Barrick, Marysville, near Harrisburg, according to state motor police.

Barrick was being held here pending the outcome of the girl's injuries. Police said Barrick confessed to beating the baby "at least 50 times" in recent months because he was "jealous" of her unwed mother.

Little Miriam Wolf, victim of the brutal assault, is in a critical condition in a Sunbury hospital, where authorities say she has been unconscious more than 72 hours. The left side of her face, her hands and feet were paralyzed; deep bruises were found on her face, neck and jaw, and numerous lacerations scarred her soft features.

The child's mother, Helen Wolf, about 24, a domestic in a rural Juniata county home, was being held as a material witness.

Corporal Richard Gray, of the Pennsylvania motor police, said Barrick admitted "branding" Miriam with a stove-lid lifter several weeks ago. On other occasions, Barrick told Gray, he "kicked, beat and choked her."

Barrick's arrest followed investigation by state police of a hospital physician's report on the baby's injuries. He was arrested at the home of a brother-in-law, where the child's mother was employed and where Barrick has been living for the last several months.

The child, according to motor police, was taken to the hospital last Monday. Barrick, on his arrest, police said, declared the child had fallen against a washing machine.

Questioned by police, however, Barrick admitted hurling the child against a stove, Gray asserted.

TWO NAZI SPIES ON OCEAN AFTER MEXICANS ACT

MEXICO CITY, March 2—Two alleged Nazi spies, expelled from Mexico by President Lazaro Cardenas, were on the high seas today after being placed aboard the liner Orinoco at Vera Cruz.

The suspects, Baron Hans Heinrich Von Holleuffer and Paul Cardinsky, were deported under article 33 of the Mexican constitution of 1917.

Cardenas acted swiftly after being informed the Baron and Cardinsky were plotting to start trouble among 5,000 Germans in the southern state of Chiapas.

General Antonio Rios Zertuche, commander of the military zone there, came to the capital and told Cardenas that Baron Von Holleuffer had been importing arms and ammunition from Guatemala. The baron also was accused of directing radio transmission of Mexican military secrets to Berlin.

An official announcement said the president considered it "inconvenient" for the two suspects to remain in Mexico.

CHANGE ARTISTS ESCAPE WITH $6 OF STOUT'S CASH

Walter Stout, N. Court street service station operator, has been in the gasoline business in Circleville for 14 years and has learned many of the tricks of the trade, but he was not quite fast enough Wednesday evening for a short change artist who "fleece" him out of $6.

A 1937 Chevrolet bearing North Carolina tags was driven into the station for a purchase of three gallons of gasoline. The driver handed Stout a $10 bill. After some exchanging of money that followed, Stout discovered that he was $6 short, but the car was gone before he found the error.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Adkins answered a call to the station and drove as far north as the Franklin county line, but was unable to find the car.

Stout said that the car contained two young men and a girl, the latter dressed in a fur coat.

NEXT PONTIFF CHOOSES NAME OF LATE PIUS

Three Ballots Necessary To Determine Sacred Conclave's Wishes

PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED

Native Of Italy Is First Papal Secretary Of State To Be Honored

VATICAN CITY, March 2—The sacred College of Cardinals meeting in secret conclave today chose Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, of Italy, as successor to Pope Pius XI as supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic church.

The election, one of the speediest in the history of the church, raised to the pontificate the brilliant and gifted diplomat who served as papal secretary of state under Pope Pius XI.

The new pontiff, in tribute to his beloved predecessor, chose the title of Pope Pius XII. Cardinal Pacelli was born in Italy in 1876 and was created a cardinal in 1929 by Pope Pius XI.

Served as Chamberlain

At the death of Pope Pius, he was named Camerlango, or chamberlain of the Holy Roman church, and as such carried on the duties of the pontiff during the period "sede vacante" since Pius' passing. The choice of Cardinal Pacelli broke a long standing tradition that secretaries of state are not to be chosen as pontiff.

It carried on tradition, however, in that his selection meant another Italian occupant of the papal throne.

Cardinal Pacelli was chosen on the third ballot cast on the first day of voting.

His choice was made known to countless thousands gathered in the huge square at St. Peter's church by a thin white column of smoke arising from the roof above the "sistine," the chapel where the conclave was assembled.

DIES IN ACTION AGAINST NAZIS, FASCIST GROUPS

WASHINGTON, March 2—Chairman Martin Dies of the special house committee investigating un-American activities, today announced that the committee has detailed a special squad of staff investigators to probe the activities of the German-American Bund, the Italian Fascist, the Silver Shirts and similar organizations.

The investigators are operating under the direction of Rhea Whitely, chief attorney for the committee, and a former G-man.

Branding recent Bund and Communist rallies at Madison Square Garden in New York City as "disgraceful demonstrations," Dies in a statement, declared that the nation could rest assured that both meetings are "being fully and completely investigated."

"The German American Bund, the Italian Fascist, the Silver Shirts, and every other Nazi and Fascist organization are being thoroughly and completely and fearlessly investigated by a special squad of trained and experienced investigators selected by the full committee, and working under the direction of an able attorney who was for ten years connected with the Federal Bureau of Investigation," Dies said.

COURTROOM FULL FOR OPENING OF $10,000 ACTION

For the first time in many months there was a crowd in Pickaway county's Common Pleas courtroom Thursday.

The occasion was the opening of the hearing of the $10,000 suit of James Smith, Negro, Huston street, against Elmer Carper, Circleville Route 4. The suit charges alienation of affections.

First witness called by the plaintiff's attorneys after selection of the jury was Mr. Carper. He was called for cross examination. He was to be questioned further after the noon recess. Questioning of Mr. Carper during the morning was largely concerning the operation of his dairy and farming business, autos he purchased for the Smith family, and payments to them for services.

Ten witnesses had reported for the plaintiff before noon. They were Joseph Moats, E. Ohio street; Mrs. Howard Seymour, S. Scioto street; William Anderson, E. Union street; Ernest May, E. Mound street; William Watts, E. Mound street; Mrs. Irene Lannan, E. Mound street; Mrs. Clara Bowsher, E. Mound street; Mrs. Georgia Hill, Maplewood avenue; James Davis, E. Mound street, and Clifford Henry, E. Franklin street.

Jurors selected for the trial are Haldy Winfough and Harry Neff, Darby township; Mildred Price, Jackson township; Clara Smith, Deercreek township; Ralph Long, Muhlenberg township; Stanley Glick, Circleville township; Mrs. Erma Gehres, Roy Young, and John Bolender, all of Circleville; Bertha Jones, Wayne township, Opal Schooley, Commercial Point, and Christina Beers, Scioto township.

JOE DiMAGGIO SIGNS NAME TO YANKEE OFFER

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2—After signing a 1939 contract, Joe DiMaggio, Yankee slugger de luxe, prepared to leave this afternoon for the Yanks Spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The young outfielder signed his contract last night and sent it East by air mail. He refused to discuss its terms, but reports had it he will get $27,500 or $25,000 more than last year.

Already enroute to St. Petersburg was Frank Crosetti, Yankee shortstop, although he has not signed as yet.

SENATORS MAY RESTORE GUAM TO ARMS BILL

Sentiment In Upper House Favors Expenditure To Fortify Island

DEBATE LIMIT SOUGHT

Ballot May Bring Hairline Decision; Barkley Voices Trend Of Thought

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Senate sentiment for military improvement on the Pacific island of Guam increased today as debate on the $358,000,000 army expansion bill ranged over the entire field of American foreign relationships.

Majority leader Barkley said his checkup indicated a "very close vote" when the senate begins balloting on navy proposals to spend $5,000,000 improving the American-owned island. The house rejected the Guam proposal, but Barkley scanned senate ranks and said:

"There seems to be a definite swing in favor of the project over here."

Navy plans for Guam were not even a part of the army expansion bill under consideration, but somehow the tiny "sand dune in the Pacific" became a symbol for opposing schools of thought on national defense. Guam provided an issue that clearly traced senate cleavage between supporters and opponents of a foreign policy of strict isolation.

Final Vote Near

Barkley hoped to get a debate limitation agreement that would assure a final vote on the army expansion bill tomorrow. Discussion on the bill stirred up debate on international questions that was so heated at times that it extended to personalities.

Formal consideration of Guam improvement will come in the senate only after the naval affairs committee has approved the pending naval air base bill. Open hearings on this legislation before the naval committee will begin Monday.

Opposition to the navy expansion bill centered in dual and bipartisan groups, one bent on economy, the other dubious of the wisdom of expanding preparedness forces to a point where American military might could be viewed as an aggressive, rather than defensive, world factor.

As approved by the senate military affairs committee the bill authorized funds to bring the total air corps strength up to 6,000 planes against a 5,500 plane limit voted by the house. Senator Clark (D) Missouri, headed forces seeking to restore the house limit. Failing in this, he will sponsor an amendment limiting air corps plane purchases under the bill to $170,000,000—the army's estimate of the amount sufficient to bring plane strength up to 5,500.

The war department asked for a no-limit authorization for plane totals in the measure, but the senate committee turned this down. One or more Democratic senators planned to introduce amendments proposing senate assent to the war department plea. Senator Bridges (R) New Hampshire, introduced an amendment to give Negroes aviation training facilities and opportunities identical with those for white persons.

"Middle of the road policy best," says a statesman in speech on international affairs. Just a Sunday driver at heart.

Labor Interests Angry After Bill Is Put Aside

COLUMBUS, March 2.—Shunting the labor relations board bill to a sub-committee of three, the house labor committee stood accused today by organized labor interests of virtually killing the measure.

The bill, which would give a board the power to name bargaining agencies for Ohio industries and business firms that were being unionized, is patterned after the Wagner labor relations act. It was introduced by Rep. William H. Whetso (R-Lawrence).

Whetso and Reps. Guy C. Hiner (R-Stark) and Evert E. Addison (R-Franklin) were named to the sub-committee.

Spokesmen for labor groups said they held no hopes for recommendation of the bill for passage.

Eight hundred coal miners of the Hocking valley were scheduled to arrive in the capital today to appear in the legislature when the "Burn Ohio Coal" bill is brought up on the house floor.

The bill proposes to compel the use of Ohio-mined coal in tax-supported institutions of the state and a flood of oratory was expected from representatives both favorable and opposed to the measure.

The legislature completed its program to stop earmarking of state revenues for specified purposes when it passed the Kanes bill to divert the state's share of the intangible tax into the general revenue fund.

The house passed and sent to the senate a bill requiring Ohio fishermen to wear licenses on their outside clothing. Another would authorize school boards to make installment purchases of school buses.

A bill extending until Dec. 31, 1940, the authority of taxing divisions to refund outstanding bonds on consent of 75 percent of the bondholders was passed by the house and sent to the senate for concurrence in amendments.

Whittemore Favored

The house tax committee recommended passage of a bill which passed in the senate extending the Whittemore law permitting installment of delinquent taxes.

Another bill recommended for passage by the house political subdivisions committee was the "sick commissioner" repealer placing the appointive authority for county commissioners with the probate

ANOTHER ARREST LOOMS IN JURY FIXING INQUIRY

NEW YORK, March 2.—A third arrest in the alleged attempt to influence one of the members of the jury that last week convicted James J. Hines, the Tammany politician, was hinted in official quarters today.

Two men, Henry J. Ficke, 38, and Salvatore Di Sapio, 36, have already been arrested by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

A spokesman at Dewey's office would neither confirm nor deny reports that a third man was under investigation.

Ficke was accused of telephoning and later visiting the wife of Harry Coon, juror No. 6 at the trial, and dropping a hint to her that acquittal for Hines would make it "worth while" for her husband. The charges against Di Sapio were not immediately given in detail.

"The arrest of my husband is an outrage," said Mrs. Di Sapio. "He has absolutely no connection with the Hines case."

Hines was found guilty on 13 charges of supplying political protection to the "Dutch Schultz" numbers ring.

TOUGH TURKEY TROT

The new picture tells the story of a Mississippi River boy and his adventures, dramatic, comical, and pathetic, while seeking to aid a runaway slave to escape to a free state in the days before the Civil War.

Richard Thorpe, director of "The Crowd Roars" and other hits, filmed the new picture. Mickey plays the title role, with the rascally but comical "King" played by Walter Connolly and his fellow crook by William Frawley. Lynne Carver and Jo Ann Sayers play the heroines whom Huck saves by exposing the crooks. Jim, the slave, is played by Rex Ingram, noted Negro actor who played "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures," and Elizabeth Risdon is seen as the Widow Douglass, the boy's benefactress.

DIZZY DEAN GUEST

Dizzy Dean will swap the verbal ball around on Jack Haley's weekly broadcast Friday, March 3, at 7:30 p. m. Lucille Ball and Virginia Verrill will be in their regular spots on the homeplate.

ETHEL WATERS, JOE COOK

Ethel Waters, now appearing on Broadway for the first time as a dramatic actress, will do a scene tonight from her play, "Mamba's Daughters," on Rudy Vallee's Variety Hour. Joe Cook, comedian, and Paloma, an Argentinian singer, are other guest stars in the broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 o'clock.

In musical revues Ethel Waters has been one of the most popular Negro singers for many years. "Mamba's Daughters" is her first venture as an actress.

GINGER ROGERS

"Single Party Going East," another original drama by Grover Jones and True Boardman, will be the vehicle for Ginger Rogers when she headlines the Silver Theatre broadcast directed by Conrad Nagel, Sunday, March 5, over the Columbia network at 6:00 p. m. Miss Rogers, who made her bow on Silver Theatre last Fall in the dramatic story, "The Captain Had A Daughter," will demonstrate her versatility as an actress by playing a light comedy role in her return appearance. The period costumes and Quaker dialect required for her former role will also be exchanged for those becoming a typical modern American girl.

TEXAS RANGERS

The saga of the Texas Rangers, who promoted law and progress in a rough-and-ready land larger than many a nation, will be dramatized on Cavalcade of America on Monday, March 6. Because the history of the Rangers covers a period of more than a hundred years and because it would be impossible to tell the story of all Texas Rangers, Cavalcade script writers have combined several typical exploits in the life of a mythical Ranger, Tom Dawson.

ANOTHER ARREST LOOMS IN JURY FIXING INQUIRY

NEW YORK, March 2.—A third arrest in the alleged attempt to influence one of the members of the jury that last week convicted James J. Hines, the Tammany politician, was hinted in official quarters today.

Two men, Henry J. Ficke, 38, and Salvatore Di Sapio, 36, have already been arrested by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

A spokesman at Dewey's office would neither confirm nor deny reports that a third man was under investigation.

Ficke was accused of telephoning and later visiting the wife of Harry Coon, juror No. 6 at the trial, and dropping a hint to her that acquittal for Hines would make it "worth while" for her husband. The charges against Di Sapio were not immediately given in detail.

"The arrest of my husband is an outrage," said Mrs. Di Sapio. "He has absolutely no connection with the Hines case."

Hines was found guilty on 13 charges of supplying political protection to the "Dutch Schultz" numbers ring.

TOUGH TURKEY TROT

SEASIDE, Ore., — Driving a flock of several thousand turkeys over the icy Yukon pass was the hardest job he'd ever undertaken, C. J. Walters, Alaskan "sour-dough," admitted to a lecture audience.

"They kept sliding on the ice and I was about to give it up as a bad job when I decided to tie a bunch of knots in a rope," the speaker said. "I laid the rope down on the steep slopes and soon I had trained the turkeys to walk on the knots. After that I got along all right."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Mickey Rooney is the attraction coming Sunday to the Cliftona Theatre in his first solo starring vehicle, Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," successor to "Tom Sawyer." The new picture tells the story of a Mississippi River boy and his adventures, dramatic, comical, and pathetic, while seeking to aid a runaway slave to escape to a free state in the days before the Civil War.

Richard Thorpe, director of "The Crowd Roars" and other hits, filmed the new picture. Mickey plays the title role, with the rascally but comical "King" played by Walter Connolly and his fellow crook by William Frawley. Lynne Carver and Jo Ann Sayers play the heiresses whom Huck saves by exposing the crooks. Jim, the slave, is played by Rex Ingram, noted Negro actor who played "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures," and Elizabeth Risdon is seen as the Widow Douglass, the boy's benefactress.

Upset nerves and glands resulting from over-eating cause wars and other social evils, according to a Vienna doctor.

Fair, $7.30; Lambs, Culls and Outs, $3.00 to $3.10; Ewes, Fair to Choice, $3.70.

NEW PATROLMAN TO BE USED ON CYCLE SERVICE

Council Reads Ordinance
For Second Time, And Makes Revision

$110 SALARY TO BE PAID

Mayor Cady Cites Need For Additional Protection
During Day

The ordinance to increase the number of patrolmen in the police department from five to six was given a second reading before council Wednesday night with revisions written into the measure. This ordinance as originally prepared provided for a "patrolman." On motion of William Reid, seconded by Don Mason, the ordinance was revised to read "motorcycle patrolman."

The salary of the additional officer would be $110 a month. With the exception of the revision, councilmen had no discussion on the ordinance nor referred it to any committee.

Councilmen have been told that an additional officer is needed for day duty. There are only two officers on duty during the day. While one is on calls the other must remain on desk duty. The additional patrolman would give the department an opportunity to keep a closer check on traffic, Mayor W. B. Cady, declares.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

SECRETARY OF THE UNIVERSE

The stuttering one armed house painter calling for help while fighting hornets and barber's itch on a slippery tin roof had nothing whatever on the Honorable Harold L. Ickes, Republican, Bull-Moose, New Dealer and Democrat. Mr. Ickes never calls for help. He volunteers it. He always has time to help a needy brother.

Consider his chores, duties and delights. We hear Big Business criticised because of interlocking directorates. Let us look at Big Government. The simplicity and smoothness of its operations are remarkable. There is no confusion. Hurry and worry are unknown. There is time for everything, a place for everything and everything in its place all the time. Calmness everywhere. Cool judgment in every decision. Wisdom in every judgment.

The noiseless efficiency of Big Government is the marvel of the age. Sign your pay check once a month, and one of six government limousines waits you home at the end of the day fit for another night.

Consider Mr. PETTENGILL Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. How little he has to do! He is the official head of scores of bureaus, boards, offices, hospitals, colleges, schools, railroads, dams, works, mines, wells, projects, programs and the like.

Quite enough for one man to oversee. But not for Mr. Ickes; he has ample time to take in neighbors' washing.

Here is an incomplete itinerary of his daily round. He has charge of public lands; the reclamation and irrigation of the desert, causing it to blossom like the rose; the Geological Survey which studies geology, minerals, chemistry, water and power resources. He is map-maker to Uncle Sam; he supervises national parks, monuments, museums, parkways, highways, picnic grounds, and garbage cans. He runs the Alaskan Railroad; the bureau of mines, the sale of helium; the Bonneville dam on the Columbia River; the bituminous coal business, petroleum and "Hot oil"; and the insane hospital in Washington, D. C. (Note: The poor insane people are not government officials. They used to be taxpayers.)

In addition, Mr. Ickes is responsible for Howard University, Negro college; is deputy Great White Father to all tribes of American Indians, their lands, oil, timber, cattle, arts, crafts, papooses, squaws, and schooling; is boss of the Office of Education with its land grant colleges, its libraries, with a quarter-million volumes; vocational education teaching horse shoeing, bee raising, basket weaving; schools in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and C. C. C. camps. He heads facilities to aid the blind; has responsibility for the building program of the United States Housing authority, and is administrator of the Public Works program which has spent billions in bridges, dams, schools, grade crossings, auditoriums, skating rinks, all, so far as known, without scandal or graft—a genuinely good job.

When these jobs are attended to he looks after the migratory birds, makes rum in the Virgin Islands, helps manage the San Francisco world's fair, adjusts war claims for manganese, pyrites, and tungsten; helps plan Chicago; manages cattle grazing on the public domain; belongs to 21 commissions, six private clubs and golf links, one church, and, as stated, four political parties.

When time is idle on his hands, he calls Congressman Dies a "zany" meaning an awkward boob, which makes Mr. Dies a national figure with a 10 to 1 backing in the House of Representatives.

In another idle moment, he takes on the newspapers of the nation and their advertisers and tells them how to run their affairs to the greater glory of government.

During the lunch hour he lectures the Supreme Court and all courts on their deportment, and knows how all cases should be decided without hearing them.

Then wiping the dust from his hands, he lifts his eyes to far horizons; in matters of State, war, navy, foreign affairs. Secretaries Hull, Woodring, Swanson, the Chief of Staff, ambassadors plenipotentiary and ministers both ordinary and extraordinary turn to him for advice and, obliging soul that he is, he advises them. Not fully occupied, he devotes a few minutes to telling Herr Hitler, Signor Mussolini and the Emperor of Japan how to manage things, for which they are duly grateful.

Mr. Ickes is a remarkable man. He that is faithful over a few things. Mr. Ickes has earned promotion. I nominate him to become Secretary of the Universe.

There is time for everything, a place for everything and everything in its place all the time. Calmness everywhere. Cool judgment in every decision. Wisdom in every judgment.

The noiseless efficiency of Big Government is the marvel of the age. Sign your pay check once a month, and one of six government linotypes waits you home at the end of the day fit for another night. Consider Mr. Pettengill Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. How little he has to do! He is the official head of scores of bureaus, boards, offices, hospitals, colleges, schools, railroads, dams, works, mines, wells, projects, programs and the like.

Quite enough for one man to oversee. But not for Mr. Ickes; he has ample time to take in neighbors' washing.

Here is an incomplete itinerary of his daily round. He has charge of public lands; the reclamation and irrigation of the desert, causing it to blossom like the rose; the Geological Survey which studies geology, minerals, chemistry, water and power resources. He is map-maker to Uncle Sam; he supervises national parks, monuments, museums, parkways, highways, picnic grounds, and garbage cans. He runs the Alaskan Railroad; the bureau of mines, the sale of helium; the Bonneville dam on the Columbia River; the bituminous coal business, petroleum and "Hot oil"; and the insane hospital in Washington, D. C. (Note: The poor insane people are not government officials. They used to be taxpayers.)

In addition, Mr. Ickes is responsible for Howard University, Negro college; is deputy Great White Father to all tribes of American Indians, their lands, oil, timber, cattle, arts, crafts, papooses, squaws, and schooling; is boss of the Office of Education with its land grant colleges, its libraries, with a quarter-million volumes; vocational education teaching horse shoeing, bee raising, basket weaving; schools in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and C. C. C. camps. He heads facilities to aid the blind; has responsibility for the building program of the United States Housing authority, and is administrator of the Public Works program which has spent billions in bridges, dams, schools, grade crossings, auditoriums, skating rinks, all, so far as known, without scandal or graft—a genuinely good job.

When these jobs are attended to he looks after the migratory birds, makes rum in the Virgin Islands, helps manage the San Francisco world's fair, adjusts war claims for manganese, pyrites, and tungsten; helps plan Chicago; manages cattle grazing on the public domain; belongs to 21 commissions, six private clubs and golf links, one church, and, as stated, four political parties.

When time is idle on his hands, he calls Congressman Dies a "zany" meaning an awkward boob, which makes Mr. Dies a national figure with a 10 to 1 backing in the House of Representatives.

In another idle moment, he takes on the newspapers of the nation and their advertisers and tells them how to run their affairs to the greater glory of government.

During the lunch hour he lectures the Supreme Court, and all courts on their department, and knows how all cases should be decided without hearing them. Then wiping the dust from his hands, he lifts his eyes to far horizons; in matters of State, war, navy, foreign affairs. Secretaries Hull, Woodring, Swanson, the Chief of Staff, ambassadors plenipotentiary and ministers both ordinary and extraordinary turn to him for advice and, obliging soul that he is, he advises them. Not fully occupied, he devotes a few minutes to telling Herr Hitler, Signor Mussolini and the Emperor of Japan how to manage things, for which they are duly grateful.

Mr. Ickes is a remarkable man. He that is faithful over a few things. Mr. Ickes has earned promotion. I nominate him to become Secretary of the Universe. SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

TRAINING FOR TRUTH
THE old idea of education was for children to believe what they were told by their elders, particularly their parents and teachers. It was assumed that grownups wouldn't tell them anything that wasn't true. But modern educators and psychologists are less naive about that, knowing that, even without any deliberate purpose of misinforming them, children hear far too many things that are untrue and hard to get out of their minds later on.

Lord Russell, British philosopher and educator, seems to have a patent remedy for this educational disease. Schools, he says, have two tasks—to cause people to believe when there is reason for it, and to cause them not to believe when there is no reason. Here is quite a job. How would he do it?

First, he tells a group of school principals, he would have the teachers of very young children offer their pupils two sorts of candy, one very nasty and the other very nice. With the nasty sweets would go a beautiful blurb, telling how good they were; and with the good ones would go a coldly scientific statement of their merits. Then the children would choose, and learn for themselves to prefer plain truth to fancy humbug.

The principle would be carried out in other ways, regarding all kinds of important things. It sounds like good psychology.

WILD LIFE SANCTUARIES
HUMAN beings have been penetrating the country's remaining bits of wilderness in increasing numbers for recreational purposes, renewing that wholesome contact with nature which is too easily lost in modern life. Good for people, this trend has been hard on the wild life native to the wilderness. With roads, automobiles, campers, trains and even airplanes invading such areas, the natural habitats for birds and beasts are disturbed or destroyed. If we are to save them, it is important that plenty of wild life havens be set aside permanently for the creatures that belong there.

Dr. John H. Baker, executive director of the National Association of Audubon Societies, makes this plea as he goes about the country. The establishment of eleven sanctuaries in Texas and other states, he points out, was responsible for restoration of the American egret, which was nearing extinction not many years ago. Two species of the egret have not only been saved, but are now increasing in numbers. The Audubon Societies hope to save the threatened wood ibis in the same way.

Projects of this sort have greater popular support year by year as the public learns their importance.

World At A Glance

Representative Hamilton Fish formerly was more suspicious of Communists than of any other species. Today Fascism is his principal apprehension. He's allergic to the Nazis also, but apparently he doesn't consider Hitler's crowd as immediately threatening as Mussolini's. Anyway, he talks more about the latter than he does about the former. He made a Washington's Birthday speech warning the Sons of the American Revolution against the Fascist peril and never referred to the Nazi danger. Moreover, he didn't mention Communistic risks, either. Seemingly, he succeeded in getting Communism off his mind some time ago, is preoccupied with Fascism at present and will concentrate on the Nazis a bit later.

Now, Representative Fish is a pretty good Congressman. He gets himself laughed at, due to the violence and the changing character of his antipathies, but nobody could find any legitimate fault with his objection to Communists. However, he worried about them almost exaggeratedly. The average American, while wholeheartedly hostile to a Soviet form of government in the United States, undoubtedly never has lost much sleep lest it obtain a foothold here—nor believing that there was the slightest actual chance of it. "Ham" Fish did worry.

SOS WAS NO HOAX

WASHINGTON — The mystery of the ship which sent frantic word that it was torpedoed off the Canary Islands probably never will be solved, but U. S. naval experts have some very definite ideas about it.

In the first place they say it was impossible for the message to have been faked. It came too clearly and was unmistakably a ship in distress near the Canaries. Furthermore, naval experts say all ship captains know how serious it is to send such a message. They know the expenses involved to other ships in turning back or speeding up to answer an SOS. No captain would have sent out a faked message.

Naval experts also point to the fact that since Franco's insurgency, the Nazis have constructed two submarine bases in the Canary Islands. These are to prevent French troop movements from French Senegal, also to disrupt commerce between Europe and South America in wartime.

So the suspicion is that the Nazis were trying out some of their new submarine torpedoes on a lonely stretch of sea as an object lesson to the British. This, of course, never can be proved. But it is significant that the British Admiralty, which seeks no irritation with Germany right now, was strangely silent. And experts now are sure it was a British ship.

UNDER THE DOME

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers prefers not to be called a Congresswoman. Her office speak of her as "the Congressman from Massachusetts" . . . Congressman Brewster of Maine is trying to persuade the King of England to make a special stop in the Pine Tree State to celebrate the centennial of the "bloodless battle of Aroostook". "We promise," says Brewster, "not to dunk him in Boston harbor." . . . State Department Counselor Walton Moore, 80 years old this week, still keeps his charm and virility. . . . When a Justice Department lawyer leaves town these days, his movements are kept a dark secret. Intent on anti-trust investigations, he is afraid that corporations, if they suspect a visit, will strip their files. . . . Of all the U. S. citizens who traveled abroad last year, the occupation most frequently listed was housewife. . . . TVA officials got a smile out of the announcement that Tennessee Public Service Company would hold its stockholders' meeting in Maine. Recalling the Tennessee Public Service plant that TVA was hurting the "widows and orphans" who held its stock, TVA wonders how many widows and orphans will travel to Maine to take part in the meeting.

COMMUNIST EXPERT

Solicitor General Bob Jackson amazed spectators during his recent presentation of the Government's case against Joseph George Strecker for deportation as an alleged alien Communist. Jackson knew all the ramifications regarding Communism, had its entire philosophy on the tip of his tongue.

Later it leaked out that he had "boned up" on Karl Marx before the Supreme Court hearing by reading four volumes of the famous Socialist writer.

I wonder if the air-gun arrived that I ordered for Willie's birthday?

DIET AND HEALTH

Alcoholics Often Beri-Beri Victims

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WE SPOKE yesterday of the function of vitamin B. This vitamin, which is found in wheat germ, cereals, malt milk and yeast, has the very important function of keeping our nerves in condition.

Its function was discovered in a curious way in the Far East—Japan and the Malay States. For many years there was a curious disease consisting of paralysis and swelling of the lower legs with heart failure, called beri-beri. Many attempts were made to solve the problem of the cause of this disease. Finally it was proved that people who caught it lived on an ill-balanced diet, mostly on rice. But the interesting thing was shown to be the fact that people who lived on whole rice grains did not acquire the disease. Those who practiced the custom of "milling" the rice or "polishing" it, a process which rubbed off the outer shell of the rice and made it softer and more palatable, were the ones who acquired beri-beri. So it was assumed and afterwards proved that only certain parts of cereal grains contain this necessary food factor. It is found in the wheat germ and in the shell of many other cereals.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Consisting of paralysis and swelling of the lower legs with heart failure, called beri-beri. Many attempts were made to solve the problem of the cause of this disease. Finally it was proved that people who caught it lived on an ill-balanced diet, mostly on rice. But the interesting thing was shown to be the fact that people who lived on whole rice grains did not acquire the disease. Those who practiced the custom of "milling" the rice or "polishing" it, a process which rubbed off the outer shell of the rice and made it softer and more palatable, were the ones who acquired beri-beri. So it was assumed and afterwards proved that only certain parts of cereal grains contain this necessary food factor. It is found in the wheat germ and in the shell of many other cereals.

Peculiar Statement
Now we also pointed to the statement yesterday that it is said that beri-beri is endemic in the United States. This is a peculiar statement because beri-beri has been largely a tropical disease in rice-eating countries, and certainly the United States is not much of a rice-eating nation. The explanation lies in the fact that many people may be eating a badly-balanced diet or they may be eating a well-balanced diet and yet not be able to absorb it. A list of the circumstances which might develop beri-beri paralysis in the United States is as follows: (1) prolonged strenuous activity due to delirium or other forms of mental aberration; (2) fever of long duration, such as tuberculosis, typhoid or malaria; (3) the vomiting of pregnancy; (4) rapid growth so that the body outstrips the diet supply of vitamin B; (5) faulty assimilation of food.

Thiamin is widely distributed in nature and, of all the vitamins, it is the one most universally needed by all forms of life. It is needed by plants as well as animals. It is needed for the growth of plants and for the growth of bacteria, some of which can synthesize it for their own use. It is needed by all insects and, indeed, by all animals that have been tested.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

DENIALS OF STRENGTH
ORDINARILY A BID shows a certain amount of high card strength, but some in certain situations advertise the contrary, weakness. That is the case with original pre-emptive bids, with high jumps on a fairly early round of bidding, and with almost any kind of bid when the call which reaches you is doubted by either your side or the opposition. The taking out of the double carries the natural meaning that you think your side will be better off in some other declaration. Let us hope that when you make such calls your partner will know you are not proclaiming great defensive strength, or even any at all.

A GOOD CONGRESSMAN
As previously remarked Ham Fish is a good Congressman. Some periodicals recently started a poll to determine who, in the opinion of Washington newspapermen, is the most useless Senator and Representative. Senator Holt won in the upper House; Representative Fish in the lower one. Without discussing Senator Holt's case, the decision in Representative Fish's favor was a rank injustice. Ham Fish is a rarely enlightened Republican. He sees, intelligently, the mistakes that backward Republicanism has made in the past. He hollers for G. O. P. reform—and he hollers for it sensibly. He also sees—and he sees it moderately—the New Deal's weaknesses. But in certain respects he's so vehement that he's slightly, politically, cuckoo. Otherwise he'd verge on being good Republican presidential timber.

Every perfectly played game of chess should end in a draw, according to theory.

One single full-grown tree in an orchard requires over 100 gallons of water in a day.

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER
RUTH RAY KANE

READ THIS FIRST:
Summoned to the state penitentiary where her father lies near death, Lona Ackerman is dismayed when he fails to recognize her. He is serving a life sentence for a murder which occurred when he sought to avenge his daughter's honor. Finding a friend in Jim Claridge, Lona had just begun to take a new interest in life when the prison warden telegraphed her of her father's illness. Alone in the world, she had spent months finding jobs, then losing them when it became known she was a convict's daughter. Finally Jim had found her a new position, saw more and more of her, until they fell in love. The prison warden takes Lona to his home. As they enter, two convicts confront them with guns.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)
CHAPTER FIFTEEN
THIS COULDN'T be real, Lona thought herself thinking again and again throughout the harrowing scenes of the next few minutes. It was some other girl, some story-book character who was here in the warden's house, hands uplifted before the menacing guns of two desperate, escaping prisoners.
She watched, dazed, while Warden Lewis was forced by the sneering Lefty to order out his car, and dismiss the chauffeur who came to the door to report to him when it was drawn up and waiting in the drive outside the house.
With the warden's clothes covering their tell-tale gray uniforms, the two convicts headed Lewis and Lona into the car. The warden driving, they trundled out through the darkened drives to the heavy gates.
"No!" Lona heard herself protesting as the gates swung open and the two convicts stepped out. "I can't leave Daddy! You can't take me!"
"Shut up, you!" A harsh voice silenced her, and the gun in Louie's hand pressed closer to her ribs.
Away from the towering walls, the one called Lefty ordered the warden to turn into a side street and come to a stop. While the wheels were still spinning, Louie leaned from the back seat, and before Lona knew what was happening, he had brought his gun down with a crack over the warden's head. Lewis slumped, soundlessly, and Lona stifled a scream.
"You've killed him!" The words almost refused to come. "You've killed him!"
"Aw, fer God's sake, shut up, will you!" ordered Lefty, and a stinking bunch of rags was thrust into her mouth and tied with a handkerchief behind her neck.
The warden's body lay limp and his head lolled from side to side as they dumped him out and dragged him, unresisting, into a clump of trees of what looked like a city park. They left him there, and the sight of their faces, revealed in the street light as they slunk back toward the car, struck terror to Lona's heart anew. They were desperate looking, tense and brutal.
Shrinking down, she tried to open the car door on the far side and slip out. But they were too quick for her. The one called Louie caught her in his arms as she almost fell onto the running board. His clutch on her was hard and rough and a startled oath sprang to his twisted lips as he realized what she was doing.
"Askin' fer it, eh?" he growled. She saw his hand come up, the gun butt shining. She tried to scream through her gag as she realized he was about to hit her as he had the warden. Desperately her hands went up to ward off the blow were out of the city and onto that terrible, uplifted gun.
At just that moment, as if at a signal, a screaming wall seemed to rise from the ground on all sides of them—a shrill, unearthly, ear-splitting screech that went up and down until it seemed their startled ear drums must break. With an oath Louie pushed her headlong back into the front seat of the car, his intended blow undelivered.
"The siren! They're on to us!" he ground out, between whitened lips. "Get started!"
They were off before he had clammed the door. Sweating, Lefty crouched over the wheel, his foot on the warden's accelerator. Shooting through the night, that unearthly wall eddied about them, testing as the gates swung open and the two convicts stepped out. "I can't leave Daddy! You can't take me!"

Away from the towering walls, the one called Lefty ordered the warden to turn into a side street and come to a stop. While the wheels were still spinning, Louie leaned from the back seat, and before Lona knew what was happening, he had brought his gun down with a crack over the warden's head. Lewis slumped, soundlessly, and Lona stifled a scream.
"You've killed him!" The words almost refused to come. "You've killed him!"
"Aw, fer God's sake, shut up, will you!" ordered Lefty, and a stinking bunch of rags was thrust into her mouth and tied with a handkerchief behind her neck.
The warden's body lay limp and his head lolled from side to side as they dumped him out and dragged him, unresisting, into a clump of trees of what looked like a city park. They left him there, and the sight of their faces, revealed in the street light as they slunk back toward the car, struck terror to Lona's heart anew. They were desperate looking, tense and brutal.
Shrinking down, she tried to open the car door on the far side and slip out. But they were too quick for her. The one called Louie caught her in his arms as she almost fell onto the running board. His clutch on her was hard and rough and a startled oath sprang to his twisted lips as he realized what she was doing.
"Askin' fer it, eh?" he growled. She saw his hand come up, the gun butt shining. She tried to scream through her gag as she realized he was about to hit her as he had the warden. Desperately her hands went up to ward off the blow were out of the city and onto that terrible, uplifted gun.
At just that moment, as if at a signal, a screaming wall seemed to rise from the ground on all sides of them—a shrill, unearthly, ear-splitting screech that went up and down until it seemed their startled ear drums must break. With an oath Louie pushed her headlong back into the front seat of the car, his intended blow undelivered.
"The siren! They're on to us!" he ground out, between whitened lips. "Get started!"
They were off before he had clammed the door. Sweating, Lefty crouched over the wheel, his foot on the warden's accelerator. Shooting through the night, that unearthly wall eddied about them, testing as the gates swung open and the two convicts stepped out. "I can't leave Daddy! You can't take me!"
"Shut up, you!" A harsh voice silenced her, and the gun in Louie's hand pressed closer to her ribs.

RUNAWAY AUTO CAUSES WRECK IN MAIN STREET

Patrolman George Green And Two Members Of Huffer Family Injured

The officers checked a license number that was given to them and learned that it was of Fairfield county origin. Believing that the driver might have turned onto the Lancaster pike, they checked that highway and located Roberts driving east. The officers stopped the Roberts machine and placed the driver under arrest. Radcliffe took the autoist in the police cruiser and Green started to follow in the Roberts Ford.

Brakes Faulty

Patrolman Green said that he had no occasion to try the brakes on the Amanda car until he reached the Main street intersection. He found them to be ineffective. Green declared, also, that the accelerator on the car stuck. He believed that he received his most injuries when his head struck the steering wheel. Green was bending over trying to release the accelerator when his car struck the parked Huffer vehicle. Both cars were badly damaged. The fact that both cars were equipped with shatterproof glass prevented the accident from being much more serious. All the injured were treated by Dr. E. L. Montgomery, who discharged them from the hospital after administering first aid.

Dr. G. W. Heffner, who examined the Amanda motorist at the police station, declared him under the influence of intoxicants.

Patrolman Dan Eitel worked the remainder of Wednesday night for Officer Green and Turney Ross was on duty Thursday, Green being scheduled for service during the day.

Patrolman Charles Mumaw was on desk duty Wednesday night. The police department, since Green's injury, is handicapped for man power because of poisoning Patrolman Alva Shasteen is suffering in his right hand. The hand was cut last week during a scuffle with a man who resisted arrest.

SHERWOOD PUTS AMRINE ON JOB AT STATE JAIL

Charges To Be Filed After 30-Day Period, Says Cabinet Member

action was taken "with deep personal regrets."

In closing his statement the welfare director expressed implicit confidence in the ability of Acting Warden Amrine to bring about a restoration of morale and discipline at the institution at an early date.

"Such discipline and morale," said Sherwood, "can be restored without brutality and without coddling. Mr. Amrine's long experience in this field fully equips him to perform the exacting duties of this position."

Action Revealed

The suspension of the warden was announced to newspapermen at a special press conference called by Sherwood shortly before noon. He handed them the following statement:

"Under the provisions of 486-17 of the General Code Warden James C. Woodard of the Ohio penitentiary was suspended from that office today by Charles L. Sherwood, director of public welfare, and W. F. Amrine, superintendent of corrections, was appointed acting warden, pending the selection of a permanent warden."

"Mr. Sherwood stated that this action was taken only after a careful study of the report of Superintendent of Corrections Amrine relative to conditions in the Ohio penitentiary and after a verification of reports that had been made to him directly."

"The decision was especially difficult to arrive at because of the personal friendship which has existed between the warden and the director for many years, but the director feels, after considered weighing of the situation, that it is impossible to correct some of the unwarranted conditions at the Ohio penitentiary under the administration of Warden Woodard."

"The director has had several conferences with the warden beginning on January 10, and had urged him to correct some of the conditions which were revealed to the director but is not satisfied with the action taken by the warden as the result of such conferences."

"The director states that he is glad to state that there has been no evidence of graft or dishonesty on the part of the warden, and this action has been taken with deep personal regrets on the part of the director."

Amrine Takes Tests

"The director revealed that Superintendent of Corrections Amrine had taken four federal civil service examinations in the year 1938 covering positions of warden, associate warden and assistant warden, covering the entire federal penal program, and had stood first in three of these and second in the fourth, and expressed implicit confidence in the ability of Acting Warden Amrine to bring about a restoration of morale and discipline at an early date. Such discipline and morale can be restored without brutality and without coddling, and Mr. Amrine's long experience in this field fully equips him to perform the exacting duties of this position until a permanent warden is chosen."

Patrolman George Green And
Two Members Of Huffer
Family Injured

car. The officers checked a license number that was given to them and learned that it was of Fairfield county origin. Believing that the driver might have turned onto the Lancaster pike, they checked that highway and located Roberts driving east. The officers stopped the Roberts machine and placed the driver under arrest. Radcliff took the autoist in the police cruiser and Green started to follow in the Roberts Ford.

Brakes Faulty

Patrolman Green said that he had no occasion to try the brakes on the Amanda car until he reached the Main street intersection. He found them to be ineffective.
Green declared, also, that the accelerator on the car stuck. He believed that he received his mouth injuries when his head struck the steering wheel. Green was bending over trying to release the accelerator when his car struck the parked Huffer vehicle.
Both cars were badly damaged.
The fact that both cars were equipped with shatterproof glass prevented the accident from being much more serious. All the injured were treated by Dr. E. L.
Montgomery, who discharged them
from the hospital after administering first aid.

Dr. G. W. Heffner, who examined the Amanda motorist at the police station, declared him under the influence of intoxicants.
Patrolman Dan Eitel worked the remainder of Wednesday night for Officer Green and Turney Ross was on duty Thursday, Green being scheduled for service during the day.

Patrolman Charles Mumaw was on desk duty Wednesday night.
The police department, since Green's injury, is handicapped for man power because of poisoning Patrolman Alva Shasteen is suffering in his right hand. The hand was cut last week during a scuffle with a man who resisted arrest.

SHERWOOD PUTS AMRINE ON JOB AT STATE JAIL

Charges To Be Filed After
30-Day Period, Says
Cabinet Member

action was taken "with deep personal regrets."

In closing his statement the welfare director expressed implicit confidence in the ability of Acting Warden Amrine to bring about a restoration of morale and discipline at the institution at an early date.

"Such discipline and morale," said Sherwood, "can be restored without brutality and without coddling. Mr. Amrine's long experience in this field fully equips
him to perform the exacting duties
of this position."

Action Revealed

The suspension of the warden was announced to newspapermen at a special press conference called by Sherwood shortly before noon.
He handed them the following statement:

"Under the provisions of 486-17
of the General Code Warden
James C. Woodard of the Ohio penitentiary was suspended from that office today by Charles L.
Sherwood, director of public welfare, and W. F. Amrine, superintendent of corrections, was appointed acting warden, pending the selection of a permanent warden.

"Mr. Sherwood stated that this action was taken only after a careful study of the report of Superintendent of Corrections Amrine relative to conditions in the Ohio penitentiary and after a verification of reports that had been made to him directly.

"The decision was especially difficult to arrive at because of the personal friendship which has existed between the warden and the director for many years, but the director feels, after considered weighing of the situation, that it is impossible to correct some of the unwarranted conditions at the Ohio penitentiary under the administration of Warden Woodard.

"The director has had several conferences with the warden beginning on January 10, and had urged him to correct some of the conditions which were revealed to the director but is not satisfied with the action taken by the warden as the result of such conferences.

"The director states that he is glad to state that there has been no evidence of graft or dishonesty on the part of the warden, and this action has been taken with deep personal regrets on the part of the director.

Amrine Takes Tests
The director revealed that Superintendent of Corrections Amrine had taken four federal civil service examinations in the year 1938 covering positions of warden, associate warden and assistant warden, covering the entire federal penal program, and had stood first in three of these and second in the fourth, and expressed implicit confidence in the ability of Acting Warden Amrine to bring about a restoration of morale and discipline at the Ohio penitentiary at an early date. Such discipline and morale can be restored
without brutality and without coddling, and Mr. Amrine's long experience in this field fully equips
him to perform the exacting duties
of this position until a permanent warden is chosen."

GLITT, PURINA TEAMS, LEAGUE LEADERS, LOSE CONTESTS WEDNESDAY EVE

ONE of the classic bantamweights in the United States. That's George Pace, Cleveland star, who is ranked third highest in the U. S. Pace, who has been fighting out of Toronto for several months, outpointed Henry Hook, Indianapolis, 118-pounder, at Cleveland's Arena in his latest bout last night.

LOUIS TO BLAST GALENTO, FEARS MAX SCHMELING

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, March 2 — Old Tarzan of the Taverns, otherwise Tony Galento, has been bouncing around the country asking for it, now they are going to let him have it—a salvo of punches that will flatten him for the first time, ending forever his dream of moving the heavyweight throne into his Jersey beer parlor.
The occasion of Galento's pugilistic demise will be his challenge for the world championship against Joe Louis in June, and the prophet of this piece is Max Schmeling, who today is bound for his native Germany after a four week visit here. On his departure, Schmeling said:
"I hope Galento does good, but he will be knocked out surely in a few rounds."
Schmeling speaks as a stablemate of Galento and as an authority on Louis, inasmuch as both he and the beer-cured challenger are under the astute guidance of Joe Jacobs and Schmeling twice fought the champion. He made the mistake of trying to repeat a knock-out scored in the first fight, and he hasn't been the same since.
However, he still harbors the notion that he can whip the Bomber and expects to fight his way into a third encounter with the fists that belted him all the way into a hospital in an abrupt two minutes and four seconds. In fact, he came here for the purpose, he said, of lining up a comeback. He wanted Galento, and was a little put out over the fact that he was sidetracked for Louis, or so he said.

DAVEY DEMANDS COURT TO RULE IN DAMAGE SUIT

COLUMBUS, March 2—A motion asking dismissal of Lee Bradley's $500,000 damage suit against former Governor Martin L. Davey and General Motors Corp. was on file today in Franklin county Common Pleas court.
The petition, filed by attorneys for Davey, requested that the action be dropped because Bradley, self-styled "contact man" for the Democratic chief executive, had disobeyed an order to appear at a deposition hearing last week.
Meanwhile William B. Bartels, attorney for Bradley, declared he intended to file a counter motion for dismissal of Davey's petition with Judge Robert P. Duncan tomorrow or Saturday.
In his damage suit Bradley charges he was falsely arrested last year on a perjury charge in Cleveland after the plaintiff had testified before a Senate investigating committee.

COCA COLA AND ESHELMAN LADS SHOW STRENGTH

Caskey Cleaners And Wallace Bakery Quintets in Victories

The City league basketball race was in a mixed up condition Thursday following defeats suffered by both leaders in Wednesday night's games. The Coca Cola team thumped Glitt's Market, possessors of first place, in a 35-27 game and the Eshelman Feeds took a 23-20 thriller from the Purina Feeds, second place team.

In other games, Caskey Cleaners won 45-32 from the Stevenson Furniture team and the Wallace Bakery took a 35-19 decision from the Bach Insurance crew.

The Glitt team remains in first place because its defeat, was only the second suffered by the quintet in the race. The Purinas have dropped three contests, Caskey Cleaners and Eshelman Feeds each being charged with four losses. The Wednesday evening surprises did not change any positions in the race, but tightened the competition so that several teams now have a chance to gain the perch.

Gulick and Young, Coca Cola forwards, were hot in their game against the Glitt's connecting for 13 points each. M. Justus tallied seven-all in the first few minutes of play—and H. Fausnaugh hit the hoop for eight points for the losers. M. Justus started in rare form, but was stopped when his guard was changed.

The Eshelman team led the Purinas throughout the ball game after it had wiped out a two-point edge scored by the Purinas in the first two minutes. The half ended 14-10.

Splendid guarding featured the game. Sid Gilman and Eddie Bickler, Ohio State university end and backfield coach, respectively, refereed the games.

Next week finds Bach Insurance opening the festivities against Eshelman Feeds, Stevenson Furniture playing Coca Cola, Purina Feeds meeting Wallace Bakery and Caskey Cleaners tangling with Glitt's Market.

ARMSTRONG FOE

Coliseum Record May Be Broken Saturday Night

COLUMBUS, March 2—With a record breaking crowd seemingly assured and ordinary excitement expected to plunge into unreasonable hysteria, the stage was set today for Saturday night's Western Conference basketball struggle between Ohio State and Purdue.

Back in 1924, a crowd of 10,641 persons overflowed the ancient Fairground coliseum when Purdue and Ohio clashed in a crucial tilt, such as this will be. That attendance record has stood unmolested these 15 years, but all estimates this year point to a crowd of 11,000 or more.

As matters remained today, Ohio was firmly knotted with Indiana for the leadership in the sizzling race. Both the Ohioans and Hoosiers wind up hostilities Saturday, Indiana against Michigan.

EX-OPEN CHAMP LEADS IN OPEN AT PETERSBURG

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2—Billie Burke, the dapper former National Open champion, held a one-stroke advantage on the field today as the $5,000 St. Petersburg Open Golf tournament moved into the final round of 36 holes.
Burke snatched the lead away from Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., when he finished late in the day with a 66, firing seven birdies and going over regulation figures only once on the par 72 course.
Picard garnered a 67 for second place, two strokes under the cards posted by Johnny Bulla of Chicago, and Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y.
Eleven players were deadlocked at 70 and two at 71. Another 11 finished the opening 18 holes with pars. The 54-hole meet will wind up today.

MAN JAILED IN EXTORTION PLOT IS UNDER GUARD

NEW YORK, March 2—A suicide guard today was placed over Charles Mitchell, 31, as remorse overcame him for the part he played in the kidnaping of Michael Katz, 4, in Brooklyn, last week.
Weeping inconsolably, Mitchell cried: "I've been a fool. I'm sorry I did it."
Mitchell and Sol Schwartz, 29, were quickly indicted and jailed in default of $50,000 bail each for the kidnaping. Police charged the hysterical plot was conceived by the men as a means of raising $7,000 to pay debts to "loan sharks" incurred chiefly by betting on horse races. Mitchell, a close friend of George Katz, father of the kidnaped boy, acted as "intermediary." The boy was returned after payment of $180 to Mitchell.

LASH TO MEET CUNNINGHAM IN TWO-MILE TEST

NEW YORK, March 2 — The most interesting sports question in the country today is this: Can Glenn Cunningham, peerless star of the Millers beat Don Lash, the king of the two-milers, at the latter's favorite distance?

This question will be answered in Madison Square Garden Saturday night when Lash and Cunningham hook up with Gregory Rice of Notre Dame and Tommy Deckard of Indiana in a special two-mile race at the annual I. C. 4-A. games.

Dan Ferris, white-haired A.A.U. secretary and one of the world's admitted experts on anything pertaining to track and field, sums it all up in this fashion:
"Cunningham has convincingly demonstrated that he can beat Lash at a mile despite the fact that Lash ran one of the fastest miles on record at Princeton two years ago when Archie Sam Roman beat him by an eyelash in 4:07.2."

"Many think that Cunningham can't beat Lash at Don's own game because he is unused to the distance. That's where they are mistaken. They forget that Cunningham started his career as a two-miler and while it is true he hasn't competed at that distance since his college days half a dozen years ago, it is equally true that he has enough stamina for a marathon race."

DODGERS TAKE DAYTON NINE IN ATLANTIC LOOP

COLUMBUS, March 2 — The Brooklyn Dodgers extended their farm system into Ohio today with the acquisition of the old Dayton Ducks of the mid-Atlantic league.
Incorporation papers for reorganization of the Ducks were filed with the secretary of state by Branch Rickey, Jr., minor league manager of Larry McPhail, general manager of the Dodgers. Rickey was accompanied by State Senator Don R. Thomas (D-Dayton), attorney for the new club.
It was revealed that financing for the new club was arranged with the Dodgers subscribing to $10,000 of the stock and Ohioans purchasing the remaining $10,000.

Tigers To Take On Bexley At Delaware; Ashville Squad Watched

Circleville and Pickaway county high school basketball teams were ready today to meet strong foes in district class A and B competition at Delaware and Westerville.

The schedule:
Circleville vs. Bexley, Friday at 8 p. m. in Delaware.
Scioto township vs. Utica Friday at 1 p. m. in Westerville.

Pickaway township vs. Hyatts, Friday at 4 p. m. in Westerville.
Ashville vs. Jacksonstown, Friday at 9 p. m. in Westerville.

The Red and Black, tuned up by a good game with Lancaster this week, will be out to avenge a 50-25 defeat plastered on it by Bexley in a game a couple of weeks ago. Coach Roy Black is confident that his boys will play much better basketball.

The squad Black will take to Delaware will include Davis, Smith, Walters, Bungarner, Bowsher, Liston, Staley, Callihan, Jackson and Heffner.

County fans are expecting at least one of the three teams going to Westerville to get to the semifinals. Ashville, county titlist, is being watched closely because of its fine season record. If Ashville should defeat Jacksonstown its next foe will be the winner of the Rosedale-Gambler game, likely Rosedale, Madison county champion. Ashville defeated Rosedale on the London court a couple of weeks ago.

SPORTSMEN OF STATE TO MEET ON MARCH 14-15

COLUMBUS, March 2.—The annual convention of the League of Ohio Sportsmen will be held in Columbus, March 14 and 15.

Gov. John W. Bricker will be the principal banquet speaker Wednesday evening. The annual smoker is scheduled for Tuesday evening.

miles on record at Princeton two complete symposia on conservation activities in the states with conservation commissioners of Indiana, Michigan and Pennsylvania among the list of speakers. They will tell why these states have achieved the reputation of having very comprehensive conservation programs. Another session will be devoted to a round-table discussion of what the sportsmen of Ohio want and expect of the Division of Conservation of the state. Reports of league committees on mine sealing, reforestation, game propagation, farmer cooperation, resolutions and future programs are scheduled for the opening session Tuesday.

Pittsburgh Seeks Lewis, Conn Light-Heavy Fight

PITTSBURGH, March 2.—Although he once gave up professional fighting because it was "too rough," Art Rooney, Pittsburgh's most famous sportsman, has decided to enter into the boxing game again—this time as a promoter.

The owner of the Pittsburgh Pirate professional football team disclosed he will promote a few fights during the coming outdoor season. He said his promotional work will be done solely in the "Smoky City."

Noted as a breaker of bookies at the race track, the quiet Irishman revealed:

"I'm going to put on a couple of shows at Forbes Field (home grounds of the Pittsburgh baseball club) this summer."

Apparently holding the inside track on showing Billy Conn, latest "shot in the arm" to big boxing gates, Rooney announced that the only fighter ever to take Freddie Apostil twice will appear in one of his attractions.

Rooney hinted he was attempting to sign John Henry Lewis, present holder of the light heavyweight crown, as an opponent for Conn. When asked if he was going to put on the light heavy championship battle, the sportsman leaned back in his swivel chair and laughed:

"I guess that's what you would call a Lewis-Conn match."

The shrewd Hibernian admitted, however, that he expected to encounter some difficulty before signing the dusky Lewis who had the misfortune of bouncing into one of Joe Louis' hooks just as their fight was getting underway in Madison Square Garden recently. Rooney said he believed John Henry was fighting exclusively for Mike Jacobs, self-admitted generalissimo of the boxing domain.

Officially, this will be the local sportsman's first real attempt at promoting. A few years back, he promoted a few fights for charity and Primo Camera, the hulking Italian, appeared once of his card.

On one other occasion, Rooney acted as the man-behind-the-scenes for a heavyweight champion of the world, and, he admits, he owned a piece of the fighter's contract.

"I also fought for awhile as an amateur back a few years, and then turned professional," Rooney declared. "I fought two pro fights and quit. That part of the game is a little too rough for me," he laughed.

Boxing in Pittsburgh hasn't been a real money-maker since the demise of Harry Greb. Whether Rooney will become a full-fledged promoter depends upon the success with which he meets in his outdoor shows.

Up until his phenomenal success in New York City, Conn was only a fair drawing card in this city, but now Rooney feels that the crowds will flock again to the ring-side to see a lightweight championship battle between two Pittsburghers—Conn and Lewis.

The Coca Cola team thumped Glitt's Market, possessors of first place, in a 35-27 game and the Eshelman Feeds took a 23-20 thriller from the Purina Feeds, second place team.

In other games, Caskey Cleaners won 45-32 from the Stevenson Furniture team and the Wallace Bakery took a 35-19 decision from the Bach Insurance crew.

The Glitt team remains in first place because its defeat was only the second suffered by the quintet in the race. The Purinas have dropped three contests, Caskey Cleaners and Eshelman Feeds each being charged with four losses. The Wednesday evening surprises did not change any positions in the race, but tightened the competition so that several teams now have a chance to gain the perch.

Gulick and Young, Coca Cola forwards, were hot in their game against the Glitt's connecting for 13 points each. M. Justus tallied seven-all in the first few minutes of play—and H. Fausnaugh hit the hoop for eight points for the losers. M. Justus started in rare form, but was stopped when his guard was changed.

The Eshelman team led the Purinas throughout the ball game after it had wiped out a two-point edge scored by the Purinas in the first two minutes. The half ended 14-10.

Splendid guarding featured the game. Sid Gilman and Eddie Blicke, Ohio State university end and backfield coach, respectively, refereed the games.

BAND OF O. S. U. ARRANGES TOUR OF OHIO CITIES

COLUMBUS, March 2—While other Ohio State university students are at home for the Spring vacation in March, members of the concert band will be taking to the road for their annual tour.
The 90-piece organization directed by Professor Eugene J. Weigel of the music department will visit Piqua on March 20, Fremont on March 21, Massillon on March 22, Sebring on March 23, and Youngstown on March 24.
In each of the cities visited all profits from the afternoon and evening concerts will go to the local sponsors—high schools in all cases except Youngstown where the Boy Scouts are in charge.

Coliseum Record May Be Broken Saturday Night

COLUMBUS, March 2—With a record breaking crowd seemingly assured and ordinary excitement expected to plunge into unreasonable hysteria, the stage was set today for Saturday night's Western Conference basketball struggle between Ohio State and Purdue.

Back in 1924, a crowd of 10,641 persons overflowed the ancient Fairground coliseum when Purdue and Ohio clashed in a crucial tilt, such as this will be. That attendance record has stood unmolested these 15 years, but all estimates this year point to a crowd of 11,000 or more.

As matters remained today, Ohio was firmly knotted with Indiana for the leadership in the sizzling race. Both the Ohioans and Hoosiers wind up hostilities Saturday, Indiana against Michigan.

A win or loss for both sides will leave each with a share of the title. If Ohio wins and Indiana loses, then Ohio will have undisputed possession of the crown while Indiana can gain sole rights to the bunting by winning if Ohio falls before Purdue's onslaught.

Ohio has not monopolized a Big Ten cage race since 1925 when the immortal Johnny Miner led the Bucks to Midwest supremacy, but in 1932 the Scarlet and Gray shared the title with Northwestern.

Offensively, Coach Harold Olsen's men have a decided edge on the inconsistent Boilermakers. Ohio has an offensive season average of 40 points, about five more than the prospective visitors. Defensively, however, Purdue holds a slight edge of about two points.

The Boilermakers, with a season record of six victories and four losses, launched their season disastrously, dropping their first couple of games. Then, inspired by spirited teamwork, they zoomed to five consecutive victories before being defeated by two inferior fives.

Monday night the Boilermakers bounded back into the headlines with a decisive victory over Indiana which at least temporarily shattered the Hoosiers' hopes of undisputed supremacy.

Knowing Purdue's potentialities, Ohio will be geared for a bitter battle and count heavily on high scoring Jimmy Hull to pile up a victory margin.

Hull, who seems destined to occupy a permanent niche in Ohio State basketball legend, has not let his mates down once this season and has scored 149 points in 11 games.

Tigers To Take On Bexley At Delaware; Ashville Squad Watched

Circlesville and Pickaway county high school basketball teams were ready today to meet strong foes in district class A and B competition at Delaware and Westerville.

The schedule: Circleville vs. Bexley, Friday at 8 p. m. in Delaware. Scioto township vs. Utica Friday at 1 p. m. in Westerville.

Pickaway township vs. Hyatts, Friday at 4 p. m. in Westerville. Ashville vs. Jacksonstown, Friday at 9 p. m. in Westerville.

The Red and Black, tuned up by a good game with Lancaster this week, will be out to avenge a 50-25 defeat plastered on it by Bexley in a game a couple of weeks ago. Coach Roy Black is confident that his boys will play much better basketball.

The squad Black will take to Delaware will include Davis, Smith, Walters, Bungarner, Bowsher, Liston, Staley, Callahan, Jackson and Heffner.

County fans are expecting at least one of the three teams going to Westerville to get to the semifinals. Ashville, county titlist, is being watched closely because of its fine season record. If Ashville should defeat Jacksonstown its next foe will be the winner of the Rosedale-Gambier game, likely Rosedale, Madison county champion. Ashville defeated Rosedale on the London court a couple of weeks ago.

LASH TO MEET CUNNINGHAM IN TWO-MILE TEST

NEW YORK, March 2 — The most interesting sports question in the country today is this: Can Glenn Cunningham, peerless star of the Millers beat Don Lash, the king of the two-milers, at the latter's favorite distance?

This question will be answered in Madison Square Garden Saturday night when Lash and Cunningham hook up with Gregory Rice of Notre Dame and Tommy Deckard of Indiana in a special two-mile race at the annual I. C. 4-A. games.

San Ferris, white-haired A.A.U. secretary and one of the world's admitted experts on anything pertaining to track and field, sums it all up in this fashion:

"Cunningham has convincingly demonstrated that he can beat Lash at a mile despite the fact that Lash ran one of the fastest miles on record at Princeton two years ago when Archie Ryan Romani beat him by an eyelash in 4:07.2."

"Many think that Cunningham can't beat Lash at Don's own game because he is unused to the distance. That's where they are mistaken. They forget that Cunningham started his career as a two-miler and while it is true he hasn't competed at that distance since his college days half a dozen years ago, it is equally true that he has enough stamina for a marathon race."

DODGERS TAKE DAYTON NINE IN ATLANTIC LOOP

COLUMBUS, March 2 — The Brooklyn Dodgers extended their farm system into Ohio today with the acquisition of the old Dayton Ducks of the mid-Atlantic league.

Incorporation papers for reorganization of the Ducks were filed with the secretary of state by Branch Rickey, Jr., minor league manager of Larry McPhail, general manager of the Dodgers. Rickey was accompanied by State Senator Don R. Thomas (D-Dayton), attorney for the new club.

It was revealed that financing for the new club was arranged with the Dodgers subscribing to $10,000 of the stock and Ohioans purchasing the remaining $10,000.

Pittsburgh Seeks Lewis, Conn Light-Heavy Fight

PITTSBURGH, March 2 — Although he once gave up professional fighting because it was "too rough," Art Rooney, Pittsburgh's most famous sportsman, has decided to enter into the boxing game again—this time as a promoter.

The owner of the Pittsburgh Pirate professional football team disclosed he will promote a few fights during the coming outdoor season. He said his promotional work will be done solely in the "Smoky City."

Noted as a breaker of bookies at the race track, the quiet Irishman revealed:

"I'm going to put on a couple of shows at Forbes Field (home grounds of the Pittsburgh baseball club) this summer."

Apparently holding the inside track on showing Billy Conn, latest "shot in the arm" to big boxing gates, Rooney announced that the only fighter ever to take Freddie Apostoli twice will appear in one of his attractions.

Rooney hinted he was attempting to sign John Henry Lewis, present holder of the light heavy-weight crown, as an opponent for Conn. When asked if he was going to put on the light heavy championship battle, the sportsman leaned back in his swivel chair and laughed:

"I guess that's what you would call a Lewis-Conn match."

The shrewd Hibernian admitted, however, that he expected to encounter some difficulty before signing the dusky Lewis who had the misfortune of bouncing into one of Joe Louis' hooks just as their fight was getting underway in Madison Square Garden recently. Rooney said he believed John Henry was fighting exclusively for Mike Jacobs, self-admitted generalissimo of the boxing domain.

Officially, this will be the local sportsman's first real attempt at promoting. A few years back, he promoted a few fights for charity and Primo Camera, the hulking Italian, appeared once of his card.

On one other occasion, Rooney acted as the man-behind-the-scenes for a heavyweight champion of the world, and, he admits, he owned a piece of the fighter's contract.

"I also fought for awhile as an amateur back a few years, and then turned professional," Rooney declared. "I fought two pro fights

COUNCIL APPROVES ASSESSMENT SCALE FOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

$6 PRICE FIXED FOR RESIDENCES IN CIRCLEVILLE

First Quarterly Bills May Be Issued By First Of April

ORIGINAL RATES REVISED

Operators To Receive Pay Of $100 Instead Of $90 Monthly

Councilmen will meet next Wednesday night for further discussion of plans for operation of the new disposal plant.

Council passed an ordinance Wednesday night establishing a schedule of assessments for operation of the new municipal disposal plant.

The city dads hope to issue the first quarterly bills on the assessments April 1 so funds will be available as quickly as possible for plant operations. So far no date has been set for placing the plant in operation.

An ordinance previously given one reading, establishing a schedule of charges, was thrown out and a new one substituted. Councilmen said so many revisions were necessary in the first schedule that they believed it would save time to have a new ordinance. The new ordinance was passed under suspension of rules.

To Be Paid Quarterly

Assessments for the disposal plant operation are to be paid quarterly. One of the problems confronting councilmen is obtaining funds to start the plant, practically completed at present. The contractor has suspended operations at the plant, installing additional equipment as it arrives, councilmen were told.

Money will be needed for chemicals, other supplies and salaries of employees. Ervin Leist, Seyfert avenue, has been appointed superintendent of the plant.

Councilmen held a lengthy recess session during which they listened to a salesman explain the advantages of an Addressograph machine for stamping the cards to be used for collecting the assessments each quarter. The purchase of the machine was referred to the disposal plant committee, consisting of all members of council. Members plan to confer with utility firms in the city using the machines to issue bills.

The new ordinance on assessments varied from the original ordinance in charges made for public toilets in filling stations, a revision in charges for factories and shops, and the addition of a schedule of charges for barber shops. Charges for stores, restaurants and mercantile establishments were separated from those made for filling stations, offices and garages.

Rates Disclosed

The rates as established are: Dwelling and apartments, one family dwellings $6 a year; two family apartments, $11; three family apartments, $22, and for each additional family $5.50 per year.

Hotels, for each room with bath $1.75 a year; for each room without bath $1, and public toilets $8. Rooming houses, $6 a year plus $1 a year, yearly average, for each person renting a room therein.

Stores, restaurants and mercantile establishments, private toilets $6 a year, public toilets $12, kitchen sinks $6, and slop sinks $3.

Filling stations, offices and garages, toilets $6 a year wash racks $12 a year.

Barber shops, toilets $6 a year, barber chair services $2 a year.

Factories and shops, for each and every person employed or engaged in services on the premises, in accordance with the following schedule, minimum $6 a year, 70 cents per person for each employee.

Clubs and lodges, for each toilet $3 a year, kitchen sink $3, and slop sink $2.

Berger hospital, $25 a year.

Schools, for each pupil in the public schools, 40 cents. For each non-resident pupil the rate will be 75 cents per school term based on the average attendance per month.

Churches are eliminated from the schedule.

$22.60 PAID FOR SEWAGE DAMAGE

Claim Of Elgin Merriman For Expense Recommended By Committee

Councilmen allowed a claim of $22.60 Wednesday night to Elgin Merriman, N. Court street, for expenses incurred by him when sewage backed up into the basement of his home.

Payment of the claim was recommended by the laws and claims committee, consisting of F. A. Lynch, chairman, John Neuding and William Reid.

"From our investigation we found that the subcontractor in charge of installation of the new sewage pumping station, at the Hargus creek bridge, a part of the Circleville sewage disposal plant, made a faulty connection in the sewage line near this pumping station due to the fact that the city had no available records on the location of the sanitary sewer lines leading into the site of the station," the committee reported. "This caused sewage to back up into the residence of Mr. Merriman."

The money was spent by Mr. Merriman to employ a plumber to determine the cause of the trouble.

INSPECTION OF PLUMBING ASKED BY COUNCILMAN

Plumbing inspection was tossed back before council again Wednesday night.

Councilman Ben Gordon brought up the subject, explaining that some arrangements should be worked out for inspection, especially since so many homes were being improved at present with the installation of new plumbing fixtures.

He believed a small inspection fee could be charged to defray the expenses of an inspector. The suggestion was referred to the service committee.

A suggestion was made also by Mr. Gordon that the service department make a brick-paving test in one of the downtown alleys.

The city has a quantity of old bricks taken from Court street when it was repaved. Mr. Gordon suggested a section of an alley be paved, using a sand base, to determine if it would be practical to repave some of the alleys with the old bricks.

FARMER ADMITS KILLING COUPLE IN INDIANA HOME

VANDALIA, Ill., March 2.—Police announced today that Clifford Redmond, 27, had confessed the slaying of an Indiana farm couple after a drunken celebration of his birthday.

The young man, officers said denied charges, however, that he had also attacked the couple's 12-year-old daughter.

The victims of the slaying were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brand, for whom Redmond had worked as a farmhand on their farm near Edinburg, Ind., for the last four years.

Redmond was seized yesterday near Vandalia, 200 miles from the scene of the crime, as Indiana and Illinois police spread a net for his capture.

According to the purported confession, Redmond said he had sold his hound dog for $5 and bought a supply of liquor to celebrate his birthday. He had returned to the Brand home late at night in a stupor, he said, and shot the couple with his 22 caliber rifle as they lay in bed asleep.

The Brand's daughter, Gloria, said she had heard the noise but was afraid to leave her room. Redmond, she said, came in a little later and attacked her.

CITY TO RECEIVE $5,000 ADVANCE

Money Needed To Pay For Operating Expenses, Council Told

Councilmen adopted a resolution Wednesday night authorizing the city auditor and treasurer to obtain an advance of $5,000 from the county treasurer on the real estate tax collection.

Ben Gordon, chairman of the finance committee, told councilmen the city's general fund was low and the advance was needed for operation expenses. Balances in the various funds were not reported to council Wednesday night.
